

USF USFPRA

UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY RESTRICTION ASSOCIATION

Who decides when America goes to war?

The Constitution says Congress. But in 2026, the U.S. went to war with Iran without a single vote in Congress. We think that needs to change.

What We Stand For

Congressional oversight
Congress should vote before any major military action.

Diplomacy first
Trade, negotiation, and alliances before force.

Transparency
The public deserves to know where we are fighting and what it costs.

Force only when necessary
Military action for real threats to national security.

The Iran War So Far

$38 billion
U.S. military cost as of Aug. 1, 2026

~$2,000
Estimated cost per household, including higher gas prices

0
Votes by Congress to authorize the war

Sources: Congressional Research Service (CBO estimate); Moody's Analytics via CNN. Full citations on our website.

Get Involved

- Visit our booth and sign up
- Follow us on Instagram and TikTok: @usfpra
- Join a debate night or start a chapter at your school
- Write to your members of Congress (we have a template!)

Scan to visit our website
ari1084.github.io/usfpra

"Putting National Interest Before Intervention"

Ehan · Ari · Abdul · Karthikeya